The John Wolf residence property, corner of High and Exchange sts., was sold Wednesday afternoon by the United States Marshal to the Michigan Mutual Life Insurance Co. for $700. Two-thirds of the appraised value was $3,000.00 2/3.

Edward Murphy, for vagrancy, was fined $2 and costs in Mayor's court Wednesday morning. For the same offense Wm. H. Mason was sentenced 10 days and costs.

James Burrows, an old soldier, traveling from Sandusky to Youngstown, called on Poor Director Kendall Wednesday. He was given transportation to Ravenna.

Walter G. Ashton, a former member of Co. L, Fourth Ohio, has been granted a pension of $72 per month for total disability. He is said to be dying by inches, his illness being caused, it is alleged, by the food issued to the soldiers in the Puerto Rican campaign.

The Eighth Ohio is to be strengthened by the addition of a company from Gallon, which will be one of the strongest companies in the regiment. Colonel Vollrath, of Bucyrus, is perfecting his arrangements for the organization of his staff.

Residences of Phillip Kellar, 174 South High st., and Fred D. Spalding, 113 Spalding st., are under quarantine—the former for measles and the latter for scarlet fever.

Members of the Daughters of St. George are requested to attend a meeting Friday evening. Business of importance will be discussed.

The Central Labor Union will meet in Kramer's hall Thursday night. About 45 new delegates will be present.

Justice Hoffman has rendered judgment for the defendant in the case of E. B. Howe vs. Chas. M. Oberlin. Plaintiff has appealed the case to the Common Pleas court. The contention is relative to Howe's claim for a share of a game law violation fee.

The Masonic club will give a smoker Thursday evening.

The City Commissioners have sold the fire department horse, hurt recently while making a run, to A. C. Reinke for $20.

Herbert Reading, formerly with M. O'Neil & Co., has accepted a position with Dague Bros. & Co.

A team of horses ran away on East Exchange st. Wednesday. At the corner of Main and Exchange sts., the driver, whose name could not be learned, was thrown out. He was taken into Dr. T. C. Parks' office. He was but slightly bruised.

The subject upon which Dr. Levy will talk at the High st. Temple next Monday night has been changed from "The Meaning of the 19th Century," to "The Old and New."

Deputy Supreme Archon Motz, of Pittsburgh, installed officers of the local Heptasoph lodge Tuesday evening.

The Canvassing Committee of Buck College met Tuesday night in Judge Tibbals' office. The committee was well represented and all reported that the work was progressing. More names were distributed among the members. The committee will meet again next Tuesday evening.

A large audience attended the concert at the First M. E. church. The Temple quartet and Miss Elvie Burnett, reader, gave splendid satisfaction.

The Pittsburgh & Western fast train made a run recently that has been the talk of the men of the line since. The train was late when it left Akron and was trying to make up time. It made the run between Akron and Brooklyn, a distance of 30 miles, in just thirty minutes. The line is not in the best of condition and when the superintendent heard that the run had been made he was a little anxious for fear they might have torn up some of the track. The run of five miles into Cleveland was made in an additional eight minutes.

William J. Bartlett, a P. & W. brakeman, was killed at Middlefield, Geauga county, Wednesday. He fell from the engine and was cut in two.

KILLED

In an Erie Wreck.

Head End Collision In Heart of City.

Engineer John Diday Crushed to Death.

Fireman Jumped to Save His Life and Escaped.

Both Trains Were Late—Another Wreck at Ontario.

A terrific head-end collision, resulting in the loss of human life, and the destruction of considerable property, occurred at 6 o'clock Thursday morning near the Thornton st. crossing.

Engineer John Diday, of Gallon, was crushed to death at his post.

The trains, which came together with such mighty force were the Wells Fargo express, No. 14, due here at 2:20 o'clock, and the fast through freight, No. 77, scheduled to arrive in this city at 3 o'clock. Both trains were consequently several hours late and were using every effort to make up time.

The express was a heavy train of seven cars and a passenger coach, drawn by two engines. It was running at the rate of 50 miles an hour when the accident occurred. The freight train was headed by one of the Erie's new Patterson engines, weighing 85 tons. It was being driven by Engineer Thomas Wilson. Wilson was backing his train onto a switch when the express came in sight. In an instant the crash came and the three steaming, hissing engines were badly splintered and demolished.

The lead engine of the fast express train, No. 414, was in charge of John Diday, engineer, and George Kell, fireman. The latter saw what was about to happen, and jumped. He escaped with a bruised body and an injured leg. He was taken to his home in Gallon on the next train. Engineer Diday remained at his post and his life went out in a vain endeavor to place his engine under control. He was badly mangled. His body was removed from the wreck, only after a way had been chopped through the debris. He was taken to Parks' morgue, where the body was prepared for burial.

The second engine, No. 851, was in charge of Engineer William Wright and Fireman McGuire. Neither was injured. The new heavyweight, battle-ship engine on the freight train was number 1452 and had been in use about a week. It stood the force of the shock remarkably well as only the front part was demolished. None of the engines or cars were derailed.

The freight and express trains were soon sent on their way. The wrecking train from Kent arrived at 9 o'clock and began the clearing of the track.

SECOND WRECK.

Erie limited No. 8, due in Akron at 1:20 o'clock Thursday morning was seven hours late. Between Ontario and Mansfield while running at the broke, derailing the engine. The engineer and fireman were injured.

COTELL.

Windsor Was Witness

In the Famous Case Four Years Ago.

He Gave Expert Testimony For Defense.

Was Subject to a Warm Cross-Examination.

He Admires the Man Who Did It and Pays Him Tribute.

Prof. William Windsor, the vitaphonist, who is stopping at the Empire House, is not an unknown visitor to Akron.

Four years ago Prof. Windsor was in the city as a witness in the famous Cotell murder trial. He was summoned by the defense, and the evidence he gave was of an expert character.

In the county jail, Prof. Windsor was allowed to measure the murderer's head, and make a chart thereof. This was introduced at the trial, besides other testimony elicited from the Professor by the keen questioning of the attorneys.

In speaking of the trial of Cotell, to a Democrat representative Thursday morning, Prof. Windsor paid a fine tribute to the late R. W. Sadler, one of the attorneys for the State.

"He was one of the most formidable antagonists I ever faced," said the professor, "and I admired him for his keen sales of wit and logic." I heard of his death with a great deal of regret. I remember very well the one and one-half hours of cross-examination to which he subjected me."

Referring to the testimony he offered in the case Prof. Windsor said: "Vitaphony holds that all crime is the result of disease. I raised the point that Cotell was hypnotized at the time of the murder. Hypnotic suggestions may come from some one interested, or it may result from one's own imagination. A man like Cotell would be utterly incapable of originating such a scheme of wholesale murder, unless he had such suggestions. I hold that while the boy might have committed the deed, that he was absolutely irresponsible for the same."

"I found no viciousness in his nature. Rather was he a kind, silly, gentle, confiding fellow. His defect was not so much indicated by the shape of his head as it was, by the whole quality of his organization, which showed him to be almost an idiot."

"If a man has a complete brain and a complete education he will never commit crime," continued the professor. "This, however, means a whole lot."

Prof. Windsor has been a student of criminology for 25 years and has been an expert witness in many similar cases. He has visited many prisons, examined many criminal's heads and among them all he says he never found a head without a defect.

Prof. Windsor addressed an interested audience at Assembly hall Wednesday evening. Because of the extreme cold weather the turn-out was not large.

CAR SERVICE

On West Market Street to be Improved.

That Line Will be Run Separate From the Loop Line.

Manager L. E. Bellstein, of the Northern Ohio Traction Company, said to a Democrat reporter Wednesday evening that after February 15, the West Market street car line would be run independent of the Loop system, of which it is a part.

This change will greatly increase the service on West Market st., as it will do away with the long waiting spells occasioned by connections at Howard and Market sts. with the Loop cars. The Loop cars are greatly delayed by trains at the East Mill st. crossing.

A committee was appointed by City Council, at its last meeting to look after the improving of the West Market st. service, and it is thought that the above change is one of the improvements granted the committee.

PROPERTY

Has Doubled In Value

Since Oil Boom Started In Barborton.

Tanks For Van Campen Well Arrive.

The Poor Telephone Service Causes Complaint.

Stores Will Close Earlier Hereafter—Personal Notes.

(Special Correspondence.)

Barborton, Feb. 1.—Property continues to increase at a rate unprecedented in Ohio, except where oil wells have been discovered.

An illustration of this is furnished on Tuscarawas ave. The lot between the stores of Worthen & Son, and Henry Herman was valued at $700 last July. Only a few days ago, $1,700 cash was offered for the lot and declined.

The Lawndale Allotment Co., which began business last November, has sold one half of its lots; 42 out of 84. The company by the sale of these lots, part in cash and part in installment payments, have paid for the entire allotment and cleared $1,800. Another auction sale will be held April 1.

The tanks for the Van Campen oil have arrived and are being moved to the well. The well will be shot as soon as the nitroglycerine arrives.

Service between Akron and Barborton on the Central Union Telephone lines has been very poor the last week. Yesterday a prominent manufacturer when called to his phone, could not hear one word spoken by the party at the other end of the line. Before leaving the phone he yelled through the transmitter: "If you want to talk to me you will have to walk over to my office."

Merchants will close at 8:30 on Wednesday evenings hereafter instead of 7:30.

Willard P. White bought a lot on Second st., between Paige and Park streets, Tuesday of the Land Co.

Wade B. Mell has written the National Sewer Pipe Co., for whom he is agent in Havana, that he arrived there safely. He anticipates a boom in business this spring.

Geo. B. Hartley and M. Borsky are in Pittsburgh on business.

Henry Herman was in Cleveland Tuesday.

Mrs. John R. Davis was in Cleveland Wednesday on business.

PERSONAL NOTES.
